Until 19th century, linear algebra was introduced through systems of linear equations and matrices. In modern mathematics, the presentation through vector spaces is generally preferred, since it is more synthetic, more general (not limited to the finite-dimensional case), and conceptually simpler, although more abstract.. A vector space over a field F (often the field of the real numbers) is a ...

In mathematics, a matrix (plural: matrices) is a rectangular array of numbers, symbols, or expressions, arranged in rows and columns. For example, the dimensions of the matrix below are 2×3 (read "two by three"), because there are two rows and three columns: $\begin{bmatrix} a & b & c \\ d & e & f \end{bmatrix}$. The individual items in an $m \times n$ matrix A , often denoted by $a_{i,j}$, where $\max i = m$ and $\max j = n$, are called its elements ...

Limit. The term limit comes about relative to a number of topics from several different branches of mathematics. A sequence of elements in a topological space is said to have limit provided that for each neighborhood of a , there exists a natural number N so that for all $n > N$. This very general definition can be specialized in the event that X is a metric space, whence one says that a sequence in X has ...
